NETATMO

Your single point of control for all the Legrand home automation brands and beyond

At LIS we're specialized in integration. It was a next logical step to replace the many different applications a customer has to install in a single IOS or Android user interface, with cloud option.

To accomplish all this, we needed to have a strong foundation. Starting with a smart and versatile software base, we made sure it can cover a wide range of capabilities. The options are unlimited, not only from a software point of view, also the hardware can be enhanced as it is independent. Creating a server this versatile, ensures us to implement any future communication protocol with ease.
